President's Message

"Summertime, and the living is easy"

George Gershwin...Porgy and Bess

Mid-summer is upon us! Vacations are in full swing and so is the heat. I hope you all get the opportunity to make your livin' easy by taking some time to "unplug" even if for only a day here and there.

July is the month that your BWA Executive Board will meet to discuss and set the goals for the upcoming 2018-2019 BWA year. We appreciate member input as we try to bring valuable programming and fun social activities. I encourage each of you to help us in that task by taking a few minutes to respond to the survey request sent earlier this month. Only by active membership can this great organization thrive and continue to provide scholarships to the growing list of worthy recipients. We are proud to be one of the many grass-roots organization that truly has made a difference in the lives of women over the years, but we need member participation to continue.

Speaking of scholarships.... this past year, we surpassed our fund-raising goals by 50% thanks to your generous donations and participation in the monthly raffles. As a result, we were able to provide 10 scholarships to deserving candidates at our June year-end meeting. Again, it was a very special ending to our year as each recipient spoke about the impact that the award had on her personal endeavors. Thanks to all who participated!

August will follow soon and so will the 2018-2019 Membership drive. Our fee will remain the same at $300 and includes the Tower Club monthly meeting lunches. Be on the lookout for your renewal notice as well as the August social event details. We hope each of you continues your membership and invite others to join. Keep in mind, first-time

The Broward Center for the Performing Arts is accepting applications from high school students interested in the arts and journalism for its 2018–2019 Broward Center Teen Ambassador Program for the tenth year. Deadline is August 24 by 5 p.m. High school students attending public, private or home school in Broward, Miami-Dade and Palm Beach counties are eligible to join the program.

Teen Ambassadors are responsible for sharing with the community their experiences at the Broward Center and affiliated venues by posting their experiences to the teen ambassador website and their personal social media outlets. Detailing their experiences through written reviews, these students offer a teenage perspective as they gain exposure to a variety of performance styles. Teen Ambassadors are provided with behind-the-scenes experiences and exclusive educational opportunities, including introductions to performances in every artistic discipline. Acting as in-house theatre critics, these students must demonstrate a dedication to both the performing arts and writing. Students earn community service hours for participating in the program.
